

Murat Tarimcilar

Murat Tarimcilar is the Associate Dean for Graduate Programs at George Washington University School of Business. He is an Associate Professor of Decision Sciences and has been a faculty member at George Washington University since 1999. Prior to assuming his role as Graduate Programs Dean, he held the position of Chair of the Decision Sciences Department. His areas of expertise include multi-criteria decision models, applications of Operations Research methods in different business settings, Bayesian Decision Analysis and Production Rate Optimization. Dr. Tarimcilar holds an editorial position with INFORMS Transactions on Education.

Dr. Tarimcilar's current research focuses on business and public sector applications of various decision models. His research has been published in Management Science, Decision Sciences, OR letters, Socio-economic Planning Journal, Annals of Regional Science and The Financial Review. Dr. Tarimcilar's policy work at the World Bank is also published by The World Bank Policy Research series. His consulting clients include BSA, World Bank, Bose Corporation, Department of Defense, Turkish Finance Ministry, Oscar Meyer, and the Venezuela Health Ministry. He was the founding partner and served as the managing director of GST Associates, a process design and strategy consulting company.

Dr. Tarimcilar is one of the founding members of Turkish American Scientists and Scholars Association (TASSA) and he served as the conference chair for the inaugural TASSA conference in 2005.

Dr. Tarimcilar teaches courses in Managerial Statistics, Operations Management and Decision Models. He has been the recipient of numerous teaching awards, including the Outstanding and Excellent MBA Teaching Award five years in a row.

He earned his PhD in Business Administration and Quantitative Business Analysis from Louisiana State University, as well as a B.S. in Industrial Engineering from Bogazici University in Turkey.